To be a martial artist means concentrating on the essential. Therefore our fighting rules for players over 30 follow the maxim "less is more". Here every hit counts. Important is not condition and heaping up points – but concentration and determination.

Procedure over 30, 40, 50, 60 competition

- Points: A hit to the body counts one point, a hit to the head two points.
Procedure:
- A fight consists regularly of three rounds of 1,5 minutes with a 0,5 minute break in between.
- The aim of the players is to win individual rounds. If a player succeeded in winning two rounds, he is the winner of the fight.
- To win a round, a player has to make two points – after one player reached two points, the round ends.
- If a player wins the first and second round he is the winner of the fight.
- If the first and second rounds end with tie scores, the player who wins the third round is the winner of the fight.
- If all three rounds end with tie scores, the player who made the first point is the winner.
- If all three rounds end 0:0 the center referee decides who is the winner.
- If the second OR the third round end with a tie score, the other rounds (1 and 3 OR 1 and 2) are decided, so either the player who won two rounds is the winner OR (if each player won one round) the player who won the first round.
- If the first round ends in a tie score, the player who wins the second round automatically is the winner of the fight, the fight ends after round 2. (The fighter could either win a second time or he could lose the third round but would still be the winner, as he won the first of the two decided rounds.)
-In the Masters' Categories (only here!) there will be full repechage – the competitors who lose to the pool winner drop into the repechage bracket.

Deadline: November 30, 2013
